

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

The invention relates to feeding a gas terminal with energy from a ship transporting liquefied gas while said
5 liquefied gas is being transferred between a tank of the ship and a tank of the gas terminal, wherein a portion of the energy produced by the propulsion system of the ship is delivered to the gas terminal.